

What is CKAP

CKAP is an incentive cycling program offered by the Canadian Kilometer Achiever Program. Our goal is to inspire all cyclists in Canada and beyond to ride and reach their goal of improved health and lifestyle.

The program grew out of the vision of one man, Tom Parry, who metaphorically challenged, all cyclists to join teams cycling from all parts of Canada to the 1976 Montreal Olympics.

You can set yourself distance goals each year and work to achieve them. Each kilometre you cycle adds to your CKAP total. The kilometers keep building for you and for everyone in the program.

As of the end of year 2012 participants have logged more than 25 million CKAP kilometers.

How does CKAP Work

As you reach recognized CKAP km totals you become eligible to receive awards.

Send your registration form to the CKAP Coordinator and attach any fees payable to CKAP. You will receive a confirmation letter, CKAP number and annual cycling log with instructions. Each year when you receive the CKAP annual report, you will also receive a new cycling log by web page or mail.

Using your bicycle computer, keep track of how many kilometers you cycled each week. Record your results in your cycling log. Weekly totals should be in whole kilometers. Fill in the boxes for monthly and quarterly totals. Only on road km count, no indoor trainers or professionally logged km (couriers) please.

Handcyclist and Special Needs may use the sidewalk where appropriate. They may also count training and sports in a gym or track. They must remove their bicycle computer at home and work, but can count trips to and from work. Handcyclist's and Special Needs must use their judgment as to what is appropriate for them to count, knowing that they cannot count in home or work km.

At the end of each year, you submit your log to the CKAP Coordinator and you will receive any awards you may have earned upon payment.

How Do You Register

Cyclists in both programs receive a Lifetime Membership in CKAP by paying a one-time registration fee of $30.00 Canadian – $35.00 USA in Canadian funds - UK members and all other countries cost $40.00 in Canadian funds to cover the extra cost of postage.

Badges $10.00 and medals $20.00 in the incentive part of the programs must be paid for as earned. They are considered part of your registration fee as CKAP has no annual fees.

The cost of one computer printed and gold embossed certificate for the highest level reached each year is included in the cost of the award. You must pay for a badge or medal to receive a free certificate. Extra certificates cost $2.00 each.

Please insure that all payments are made payable to:
The Canadian Kilometer Achiever Program or CKAP
Mark in the memo area what the payment is for and send with your cycling log or registration form to your CKAP Coordinator.

International Olympic Goal Trophy

A trophy will be purchased when membership warrants it and there is competition between hand cyclist CKAP members.

Special Needs Program

Open to all types of human-powered cycles and wheelchairs.

There is a wide range of human powered vehicles and various abilities of users. Because of this, members of the Special Needs Program may choose to participate in either the 25,000 Km Bicycle and Handcycle Incentive Program or the 15,000 Km Special Needs Incentive Program. You must indicate your choice on your CKAP registration form and annual cycling log.

All certificates and engraved medals will indicate the actual km that you cycled in the program that you choose. You may switch from one program to the other if your ability warrants it. This must be done by written request, sent to your CKAP coordinator.
